Jr. Prom Set For Sat. Nite

Vol. XXV, No. 18 November 15, 1937 Monday

JUNIOR PROM BID SALE STARTS LAST WEEK OF DRIVE

Amplifiers Stationed In Dance Hall

Anyone wishing to secure bids at the present price of $1.75 must purchase them on or before November 20, at the box office outside the student body office.

Fairmont Hotel Terrace Plunge will be the setting of the Prom amidst post Big Game festivities.

"An efficient Public Address system has been secured for the dance," stated Roy Laugesen, low junior president. "There will be amplifiers in both rooms of the Terrace Plunge so all can hear and enjoy the music," he continued.

Former Club Deauville orchestra, Jack Buckingham's, will provide music for the swingsters.

"We want to stress that State students are extremely lucky in securing such a popular rendezvous on Big Game night for the Prom," says Vernon Rees, low junior prexy.

The committtee-in-charge, Dorothy Rothe, Ruth Bradley, Gladys Kitterlin, Madeline Ghiglion and Lois Herber, have chosen the dance programs and completed most predance arrangements. The committee have also chosen Mr. and Mrs. Harden, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Cassady, Dr. and Mrs. Homan and Dr. and Mrs. Treutlein as patrons.

Low Juniors Meet

Thursday, November 18, is the date set for the Low Junior meeting in room 118 at 11:00 o'clock. Vernon Rees, president of the class, urges all members to attend as final plans for the Junior Prom will be discussed.

LOW SENIOR CLASS SPONSORS DANCE

Inaugurated by the Block "S" and continued successfully by other clubs, the next Noon dance, to be held Wednesday, November 17 will be sponsored by the Low Senior Class.

The following is a schedule of dances for the remainder of the semester: Low Seniors, Nov. 17; High Sophs, Nov. 24; Negro Group, Dec. 1; Phi Lambda Chi, Dec. 8. Any club, class or group wishing to sponsor a Noon Dance are requested to contact Miss Frances Twohig, chairman-in-charge.

DEBATERS MEET CAL SQUADS

Words were flying on two fronts last Tuesday evening, when two State debating squads took on two squads from the University of California. One was held here at State in Room 117 and the other was held on the Berkeley campus. Neither was a decision debate.

Last week Dr. Claude Shull, debating coach, and Bill Rose, Delta Sigma president, chose the three teams that will represent State in their invasion of Southern California to take on Loyola, U. C. L. A., the University of Southern California, and other southern colleges. There will be a men's team, composed of Bill Rose and Patricio Megino, a women's team composed of Muriel Senk and Jeannette Jennings, and a mixed team of J. Wallace Gallagher and Marianne Nelson.

The trip will start from San Francisco on November 21, compete in seven or eight debates and return to San Francisco on the day before Thanksgiving.

The freshman debating squad, managed by J. Wallace Gallagher, is planning to have a full season during the absence of the varsity

STRATEGY BOARD MEETS FINANCE DIRECTOR HERE

Strategy Committee Plans Plea For Buildings

W. J. J. Smith, student body prexy, and members of the San Francisco State College Student Strategy committee, Ed Smith, Norman Zeck, and Bud Decker, will, with the remaining members of the Student Executive committee, meet early this week to form a council of war in an endeavor to get definite action on State's request for funds for a new building project. This council will meet to organize a plea to present to Arlan Stockberger, the State Director of Finance, who will be in San Francisco Wednesday in connection with the 1939 World's Exposition.

Friday, November 12, the Strategy Committee received a message from the State capitol in Sacramento, stating that a survey of State College needs was being made and the results were favorable for San Francisco State College.

In a recent interview President Smith stated, "nothing will be left undone to see that State gets its rightful share of money."

The specific building requests are a new Administration Building, gymnasium and library. Plans for an entire new campus set-up are being contemplated. The proposed plan calls for an administration building on Laguna Street, with the auditorium running back toward the present Annex B. This would allow for a gymnasium to be built where the present administration building is. However, no definite steps will be taken until word has been received from Governor Merriam.

STATE CHEST DRIVE SURPASSES QUOTA

Community Chest Campaign obtained 111 per cent of the quota assigned to San Francisco State College. The quota was placed at $340, and on November 10 there was an excess of subscriptions and contributions amounting to $36.50. This complete and gratifying success is attributed to the unceasing efforts of the college staff committee, whose members are Dr. Morse, Ruth Richards, Grace Whitby, Beatrice MacDermott, Dan Sheehan, Doris Holtz, and Edith Randolph, committee chairman. Mr. Nee, college financial secretary, assisted with collections during the drive.

The campaign had been scheduled to take place from October 20 to November 5, but was finally extended through November 10, due to a shortage in the city-wide drive.

The college collectors wish to express their appreciation to all those who made either subscriptions or contributions to the Community Chest through the San Francisco State College contingent. State has given her aid in a worthy cause, and has proved herself ready to take part in any future meritorious project.

"CALL IT A DAY" MAKES DEBUT THURSDAY; PLAY ABOUT LONDON FAMILY

Levine, Prather, Landsberger, Jacobs, Mackintosh Take Leads

"Call It a Day", a story of a London family, will be presented on Thursday, November 18, as San Francisco State College Theatre's part of the fourth annual play festival sponsored jointly by San Francisco State and Humboldt State Colleges. The affair will be held on the local campus in Annex B2, under the direction of Miss Jessie Casebolt, San Francisco State Drama instructor. The following evening, November 19, Humboldt State will present "The Bishop Misbehaves" with Mr. Garf Wilson directing.

Holders of State student body cards will be admitted free. General admission will be 25 cents. Seats will be reserved for students who present cards three days before the date of the play.

"Call It a Day" takes each of the Hiltons, a typical London family, through an entire day. The new spring day is a perfect setting for the many intricate love affairs the players portray.

MOLLY LEVINE AS WIFE

Molly Levine will play the role of the wife and mother, Dorothy Hilton, who becomes involved in a love affair with John O'Shaughnessey, the brother of Dorothy's friend, Lillian Collins. Miss Collins is a former San Francisco State player. John is lead to believe that Dorothy is the woman that his sister has chosen to be his wife.

Bob Prather plays the role of the father and has an affair with a bankrupt actress, Corienne Mackintosh, who strangely enough is the featured player in a play Mrs. Hilton sees during the day.

Catherine, the lovely young daughter of the family, is played by Mimi Landsburger. Catherine falls in love with the artist, Harold Jacobs, who is painting her picture. The artist is torn between admiration for Catherine and loyalty to his wife, Ruth Whitley, who is fully acquainted with her husband's affairs with his customers.

MARY LOWELL AS "ANN"

The baby of the family, Ann, is played by Mary Lowell. She is an ardent admirer of the famous Rosetti ,and wins the affection of her

Snuffy Won't Shuffle

Comic Hop Flop!

By TIM GUINEY

Although it pains me to print discouraging news in the Golden Gater, I trust that you will bear with me while I tell you that the latest Decker brainstorm, the "Snuffy Shuffle" is not to be. At least, not for a while.

For the benefit of those who had not been acquainted with the committee plans for the affair, I might say that the terrific Decker had some colossal ideas upon the subject of this stupendous senior dance. Aided and abetted by the inimitable (for want of a better word) J. Wallace Gallagher, the durable Decker had planned a barn dance featuring old-time dancing, Virginia Reels—with J. Wallace calling signals—and a stag corral in the center of the floor.

But, alas, as I said before, it was not to be. The high-and-mighty of State heard the news, put their little heads together, and voted thumbs down. The reason offered was that there were too many dances on the calendar already.

According to Decker, the affair will be held in January.

According to Gallagher, the entire thing is a bodacious outrage, and if he can find out who did it, he's going to bounce a rifle ball off'n the varmint's punken haid. But just between you and me, he'd better keep his 'tater trap shut, cause if the opposition goes to work on him, there won't be enough of him left for the buzzards to argeey about.

FINAL A. P. G. PLANS MADE

Final plans for the coming Alpha Gamma Convention are being made by the committee under Max Williamson, chairman of the Ninth Annual Western Section Convention to be held in San Francisco, November 26, 27, 28.

A tea at the home of Nola Keller, preceeded by registration and followed by a banquet in the evening will open the activities of the convention.

Alumni of the local fraternity chapter will be the honored guests at a luncheon, to be held Saturday noon, at Bernstein's Fish Grotto.

A news contest in the afternoon, formal initiation of new members, and dinner dancing in the evening will take place on the second day.

Breakfast Sunday morning will be followed by dismissal.

The first issue of the daily paper published by the alumni during the convention will appear two weeks previous to the convention.

State Boxers Meet Dec. 1

The Block "S" Boxing Show of December 1 will raise to new heights the growing popularity of State's sparring adherents. The show will consist of a three-way inter-collegiate meet, with San Mateo, San Francisco Jaysee, and San Francisco State participating. Winners of the match will meet contestants of other Bay Area schools.

State's outstanding fighters will be entered in the contests in the different class weights. The bouts promise to call forth some stiff competition ,and never a dull moment will be allowed. Mike Driscoll, Block "S" prexy, speaks high praises for the members of State's boxing team, and for the approaching show.

Maury Schwarz, light heavyweight, will challenge the best man of his class in San Francisco's schools. Schwarz, one of the leading members of the boxing team, is a veteran. He is a former amateur winner of the Golden Gloves, and has taken a part in many exhibitions in past Block "S" Boxing Shows.

XMAS DRIVE UNDER WAY

San Francisco State College students are undertaking a Christmas drive to help the needy families in the Frederic Burk Kindergarten-Primary department. Mrs. Lynette Messer, head of the Kindergarten group, has gathered information regarding at least fifteen families who need money, food, clothing, etc. and numerous other families who have the bare necessities for living, but are in need of assistance to brighten the home and give the children and parents an added Christmas touch.

The results of the annual Christmas drive that the student body stages and gives usually to some Community Chest, will be presented to Mrs. Messer for distribution.

Concert Hour

With small ensemble groups featuring the occasion, the second of a series of three "Student Hour Concerts" will be held Thursday, November 18, at 12:15 o'clock in the orchestra room. The gathering will be sponsored by the Music Federation.

Woodwind, flute and clarinet, and brass ensembles, plus a piano duet will enliven the concert, which met with a tumultuous reception on its inauguration recently. Students replied very favorably when queried regarding their impressions.

General admission is free, and student body and faculty are urged to attend.

PEACE MEETING GREAT SUCCESS; ROSE SPEAKS

Thirty-five million marching men!

The thunder of rumbling caissons and rolling guns echoed from the streets of five major nations as the world parades beneath the shadow of Mars.

Youth of three Pacific Coast colleges thus cried out to the world in their annual Peace dinner at Westminster Center under the auspices of the Westminster, Open Road and International Relations Clubs last Tuesday. Forty members heard the story of Peacetime movement as it was unfolded before them by three youthful speakers.

"The Emergency Peace Campaign," spoke Margaret Richert, of Fresno State College, "has a background that speaks of youth. We are the fighters of tomorrow; our young men are the trench material of the next war. So we, who would fight the next war, pledge ourselves to abolish it."

"War itself doesn't gain its supposed aim," said State's own Bill Rose. "It usually brings more trouble. Today, twenty years after the 'War to end Wars', we have thirty-five million men under arms in five different nations. There has been thirty-six billion dollars spent since 1931 for armaments. The United States spends three million dollars every twenty-four hours for the maintenance of her Army and Navy!"

Interwoven in the program of expostulating war horror were the strains of peace time music by Miss Chu Buoy Mun and Helen Louise Cox. "Unknown Soldier", a tale of the dedication of the shrine to the typical American lost in the World War, was given by Burton Johnson.

"And so," summarized Miss Mary Tipton of the University of California, "the work of establishing peace is not an overnight task. It must be active, sacrificing work by the living to establish a world for their children. It will be a program for us, our children and their children. It will be a program which must move through education and educated people."

EDITORIALS

Editorials and feature articles in the Golden Gater reflect only the writer's opinion. They make no claim to represent student or administration opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the Editor.

Keep Library Open Nights!

A large number of State students are unable to use the library during the day because of classes, and after-school work. These students regret that library facilities aren't more available for their use.

And so, to enable this minority group to have more access to the library, the Gater recommends to the library authorities that the library remain open at night and on Saturday mornings.

Other western colleges have long since adopted this policy. Their reasons for so doing must be well founded.

As the situation now exists, instructors recommend certain books for class study. Sometimes there are so few of these popular books available, that a good portion of class can't get them.

If the library were to remain open at night, the present policy (which fosters the daily jam of students waiting for reserve books for night use) could easily be modified.

There would be no need for letting these super-popular books out at night. People who wanted to use them could come early in the evening, and have plenty of time to study them. This way, these books would be available to all, instead of only to the monopoly holder who arrives in the line a few moments early!

Also, it would give the student who hasn't the time during the day to devote to library study a chance.

As a tentative suggestion, which library officials can use as a basis for discussion, the Gater advances the following schedule:

Week days: Open 8:00 A.M.—Close 5:30 P.M.
Open 7:00 P.M.—Close 10:00 P.M.
Saturdays: Open 8:00 A.M.—Close 1:00 P.M.

Gater Staff Complains

From within the staff of the Gater comes a complaint that is of such proportion as to concern the whole Student Body of San Francisco State College.

In the publications office, there are eight typewriters. These typewriters are for the purpose of producing a student newspaper. These typewriters, therefore, are not to be used for any purpose other than preparation of Gater copy.

Certain members of the student body obnoxiously insist that they, as members of the student body, have the right to use them at will.

This has resulted in much unpleasantness and many hurt feelings on the part of student body members who have been requested to leave the publications office.

Now, once and for all: Gater typewriters are provided for the purpose of writing news copy. If, at any time, these typewriters are being used for any other purpose, the user will be ejected from the office.

Hurrah For Xmas Dance!

Instead of granting a direct outlay of money as the student body's contribution in the drive to raise money for families of children attending the Nursery School, the executive board decided to put on a Christmas dance, devote returns to the fund.

Here's how it will be worked: The decoration and orchestra expense will be paid for out of student funds. Twenty-five cents worth of canned groceries will be charged for admission to the dance. This way, the decorations, which will be small Christmas trees, toys, etc. can be taken down, given to the children. The food, which is secured as admission, will be given to their families, and the money from the contribution box will be used to pay unpaid bills, buy clothing, etc.

Sounds might fine. Congratulations all around!

Good Old S. F. State!

During the Thanksgiving holidays the local chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma will conduct the ninth annual convention of the Western Section of the fraternity.

This means that delegates from most western colleges will come to San Francisco to see how we do things. Marvelous publicity for the college!

It certainly is a shame that the fraternity can't offer delegates better surroundings than a shambles of a fire-trap building.

Another hint to State authorities!

HIGH AND LOW NOTES

By MILT BRONSTEIN

Hooray! At last we have those bells, even if they are a bit jittery and are liable to sound at any time. It was a very interesting spectacle to watch Dr. Knuth race into College Symphony at the sound of the newly born chimes and madly start to conduct. (They started over). At the end of the hour the bell rang and the orchestra stopped on the dot. . . .

* * *

Went to see and hear Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey at the St. Francis the other night. Norvo told me quite a few interesting facts. . . . First time Norvo has been to S. F. since he did a single at the Orpheum ten years ago. . . . Went to college but with no intention of becoming a musician. . . . His most interesting musical teacher was Sherringer, who worked all of his musical theory on a basis of mathematics. Sherringer's most famous pupil was George Gershwin. It doesn't necessarily follow that Gershwin used Sherringer's ideas, because Sherringer admitted himself that his music was absolutely cold with no inspiration whatever. . . . Norvo's arranger is a graduate of Julliard School; his first sax a graduate of Oberline, Alma Mater of William Henry Still, the eminent colored composer. . . . George Wendt playing first trumpet and featured singing and playing "Nobody Loves a Fat Man". . . . Norvo says that his orchestra played its first waltz on this current engagement. . . . S. F. is definitely "Swing-Dead". . . . Norvo's wife, Mildred Bailey, still holding her own on "Rocking Chair" and "Peckin' "; she can sing in any man's band. . . . Norvo's xylophoning is worth a superlative adjective.

* * *

Remember Beryl Cameron, who sang with Bob Bolton's State Orchestra? Well, Beryl is doing all right by herself; she not only is pretty, but she can sing as well. As proof of this, listen to KPO every day to the Magazine of the Air, because Beryl sings on this program and does a swell job of it. Beryl recently had a screen test with Paramount and has been keeping her fingers crossed. I hope that the pictures know a good thing when they see it; I do.

* * *

Following Norvo into the St. Francis is Freddy Nagel and his orchestra. With Nagel are Bob Hart, trumpet, and Bill Gaidos, sax, former Staters. This orchestra has gone to the fore at a fast speed. The two Staters left college in their senior years to join Nagel.

* * *

Al Beseman had bad luck. A friend drove Al's car to Oakland last Monday, locked the car and went to hear Jimmie Lunceford. Al's trumpet, tux, trumpet accessories, shoes, and bow-tie were all stolen from the car. It is costing him $211.50 to replace his loss. The only humorous aspect of the situation is that Al can't get any shoes to fit him in S. F. He is six feet, six inches high and wears a size 13½ shoe, so they have to send to the east to fit him. (In the meantime Al is wearing his brother Hal's shoes, which are too small for him. Ow!)

* * *

Smiles . . . Miss Rich of the registrar's office having her hat blown off by the wind on Market St. The usually austere Dr. Treutlien chasing wildly after it and gallantly returning the headpiece to the lady. . . . Mr. White playing the organ concerto by Handel and ad libbing on the cadenzas.

* * *

It seems that we shall have a harpist for the Gade Christmas Oratorio. Dr. Knuth has asked Mrs. Carl Rittenour to perform for the occasion, and a very good idea it was, too. For you who don't remember, Mrs. Rittenour is none other than the former Nina Miller, who attended State last semester. I wonder if Nina is still knitting, and if she is, for what is she knitting now??

Student Dance

Wednesday, November 24, the night before Thanksgiving, is the date set for the combined A. M. S. and A. W. S. dance in the women's gymnasium. The officers of the two organizations are taking care of the stag situation by having women and men desiring partners submit their names to a committee before the affair. This will allow the dance to be confined to State students if desired. "Because of the convenient time this combined dance should prove to be a great success," says Frances Bolander, president of the A. W. S.

IN MEMORIAM

The Golden Gater, representing the student body at large, would like to express to the parents and friends of Virginia Coombs, graduate of May '37, its deepest sympathies for her death on October 28.

From This Side

By TIM GUINEY

Here we were, lying on the lawn in front of Anderson Hall, basking in the ebbing rays of the Autumn sun, when a familiar shadow crossed our line of vision. The baggy pants, large hat, and cloak were a dead give-away for that candid conversationialist, Alverius O'Hara.

With his customary cynical leer, he snapped curtly: "Get out your pencil and paper . . . I'm going to fill another one of your columns. . . .

"I see where Editor Jim Madden of the U. S. F. Foghorn quoted me in another one of his columns, and wound up by taking a crack at us, saying he was glad he attended the University of San Francisco. . . . It's just about time that his sneering attitude towards State come to a halt. . . . and I'm going to try and do it now. . . .

"Start off by saying that I, also, am glad that he attends U. S. F. . . . Also tell him the one about people who live in glass houses, etc. . . .

"Just listen to a couple of excerpts from the mature, intelligent Saint Mary's Collegian, relative to U. S. F. and friend Madden. . . . One says: "Jim Madden, editor of the U. S. F. Foghorn, incurred the wrath of someone on the Hilltop campus. On Monday morning there appeared a circular letter of approximately 600 words condemning said editor in no uncertain terms. Threats were issued to him that if he did not change his policy, he would be replaced; told to put his 'own house in order'; stop 'hanging himself'; asked 'what about student news'; told to 'stop running amuck'; and to 'apply your education'.

"A very popular fellow, this Mr. Madden.

"The other remark to be found in the Collegian read: 'Echoes of Childhood': the crack in 'Hilltop Echoes', in the U. S. F. student organ, The Foghorn, to the effect that all true U. S. F. men hate anything Saint Mary's'.

"May I add, that it seems that true U. S. F. men seem to hate anything not U. S. F.

"Tell them to clean their own house first, then they'll be welcome to come around and visit us."

"Following the suggestion of the column, Lou Morris was appointed to head the Christmas drive for the needy kids in the Frederic Burk nursery school. . . . Lou is the logical man for the job, and with a little co-operation from the college, should do all right. . . . Incidentally, has anything been done about your suggestion that the student body make an official donation to the fund? . . .

"When Chamberlin does something constructive, why aren't you man enough to print it? . . . How about the remark he made to you in the S. P. depot the night of the Sacramento journey, whe he told you that he wasn't going to write anything about what happened on the trip, because it wouldn't be cricket? . . . I hope you didn't forget that. . . .

"Don Glendon's column of October 23, in the San Francisco News, was the finest journalistic masterpiece turned out in these parts in a long while. . . . He actually seemed to bring the now lengendary figures of Knute Rockne, Andy Smith, and Walter Camp back to life-like significance. . . .

" . . . What's happened to those excellent linoleum cuts that Bob Steenberg used to make for the Golden Gater? . . . There hasn't been one in the paper in quite a while. . . . "

* * *

Like the wind, Alverius was gone, (please pardon us for that remark) leaving only two spots of burned grass in the lawn where the loquacious one had been standing. . . . When I see him again, I'll ask him if his clothes are made of asbestos.

OPEN LETTER

A reply to Miss Alexander's article entitled "Love—So What?" which appeared in a recent issue of the "Golden Gater."

Dear Miss Alexander:

Shades of the mid-Victorian period on our alleged campus? Impossible! But so it would seem if one were to take your so silly feature 'Love—So What?" to heart.

You may be widely read, well versed in this and that, and simply bursting with biology on the brain, but it is my true belief that somebody just forgot to tell you the awful (?) truth—it really doesn't hurt!

Your bare legged, short-skirted sisters seem to be "tops" with the male element, and that dear deluded one is what makes up the other fifty per cent of college life, as well as life anywhere else on the Deity's little footstool!

Following your trend of thought, we spied some lovely hoop skirts at De Young's "Fashions of the Fifties", Shop in the center of G. G. Park, the modern versions having a neat truck tire stitched daintily into the hem and trimmed with a divine poison ivy tatting! . . . And have you seen the new English zipper spats in neutral cellophane. for the light skinned Miss?

Are we given to understand that you are a member of the "last row in the balc.", "mutiny in the parlor school"? . . . my, my, such classmates we have grandmaw!

Trusting that you won't be too, too shocked and will soon change your much too very, very opinion,

I remain rather respectfully yours,
Ed (Rights of man) Guichard.

HARDWOOD HOOPSTERS START PRACTICE FOR CASABA SEASON TODAY

By ERNIE MIGUEL

With the end of football season and the return of the team from McMinneville, Oregon, backfield coach Dan Farmer can put his mole-skins away in the moth-balls with the Mrs. last year's new hat and assume his duties as basketball coach.

PRACTICE AT FOUR

Meeting today at 4:00 o'clock in the gym will be the returning veterans and the newcomers to the State hardwood from which Coach Dan will make his 1937-38 varsity casabans. This will be the first formal practice of the season, although several of the players have had dribbling and shooting practices and scrimmages for the past several weeks. The quality of his team is entirely unknown to Coach Dan, who, having been too busy with the football team, has not yet seen this year's prospects in their private practice tilts.

MATERIAL RUMOR

Although Farmer professes innocence as to the kind of team he has, reports coming in from several fronts indicate the caliber of players he will have to build upon this year. Practicing on their own, those members of his team who have been practicing regularly have already won two of their practice games, which they also arranged on their own hook. One of these games was won with a decisive victory over an experienced Hayes Valley A. C. team. The other was a contest with the Navy, in which the opponent, perhaps hearing rumors of the kind of team they were facing, failed to arrive at the courts.

BATTLE FOR PLACES

Among the players who have shown much promise in the practice games are Joe Sanz, freshman, who will possibly fill the shoes vacated last season by that trio of forwards Kenny Wilkes, Cecil Huse and Barney DeBischop. Judging by the average he struck in high school, he might be able to fill the shoes of the entire trio. A battle royal to fill the position of long, lean, and lanky Cy Atkinson is also promised, with a trio competing for the pivot spot. The two veterans, Al Luntz and "Slip" Madigan did not have much chance last season to show their worth, due to the ability of Atkinson to play long stretches, and they will have to do much intensive practicing to be able to squeeze out their freshman opponent, Bob Bragg, who played last season for Mirande's jayvees.

HAMMOND-SANZ

Diminutive Billy Hammond has been playing all year for different teams and promises to show more speed and stamina than he did last year. The practice games played so far show the Billy Hammond-Joe Sanz passing combination to be one of the best developed. With coaching they should develop into a high-scoring combination. The guard spots are already well filled by the returning veterans, Kenny Johnson and Bill Plutte. That pair, although not high scoring, were part of the back-bone of last season's team, furnishing ample protection for the "hole" in the majority of games.

With games scheduled with U. S. F., Nevada, San Jose State, Humboldt State, Farmer is going to face tougher opposition this year than he did last, but altogether he already has the nucleus of a winning team, even against strong teams.

Down ..In.. Front

By ED SMITH

ONCE AGAIN

Before some of the "Wolves" start howling again, I would like to bring to your minds a thought that popped into my mind. Granted that this year's football season was not so successful, there is one important factor that I overlooked last week. As you all know, California is considered one of the top teams in the nation, and that they have a fine set of first string men. And there is my point. They do have a fine set of first string material. The first string men have been able to wade thru the opposition like water thru a sieve. But the second and third string men who got into the games gained practically nothing. The U. S. C. game for example. The U. C. L. A. for another. The question arises, is it the coaching or the material? The second and third stringers received exactly the same coaching as the first stringers, yet they did not do what the first stringers were able to do. Experience is another important factor. These first stringers have all had several years of hi school experience, plus two to three years varsity experience.

Here at State we have men who received little of no experience before entering State. No experience nor coaching previous to coming to State are two reasons why we do not have outstanding football teams at State, plus the other factors mentioned last week. And that's that.

EAST-WEST MATERIAL

It comes to me, why not Beseman and Harkness for the East-West game this New Year's Day? It is possible for them to get into this Shriners' program. Several men have been picked from other State Colleges, why not ours? Cal will be at the Rose Bowl. Stanford in Hawaii. Santa Clara at the Sugar Bowl. There are three Bay Region universities out of the picture. It should be possible for the committee to pick the two outstanding men from our college. It would open a great avenue for State athletes if they are chosen.

CASABAS IN SEASON

Once again the "hardwood" hoopsters are with us. Blisters and the smell of Benzoin will be prevalent in the locker room, not to mention the shin splints and sore thighs. This year promises to be the most successful of all casaba seasons, and Coaches Dan Farmer of the Varsity and George "Slip" Mirande of the 145s are working hard to whip their men into shape for one of the tuffest schedules ever to be arranged. So it's "hit the hoop" and "sink a swisher" season once again.

BOXING SHOW IS POSTPONED BY YEAGER UNTIL DECEMBER 1

According to Carl Yeager, boxing manager, there will be a boxing meet between State, S. F. Jaysee and San Mateo Jaysee on December 1. The meet, first scheduled for Wednesday, was postponed until that date so that the boxers could get into condition for their fights. There will be two fighters in each division participating from each of the colleges.

Those fighters who will probably represent State are: 112 lb., Elmo Randall; 118 lb., Al Barrass; 126 lb., Bill Murphy and Niel Martin; 135 lb., Jim Martin and Jim McCoy; 147 lb., Bill Hammond and Jack Meehan; 156 lb., Joe Pemberty, Gordon Thomas, Barney Nichols, and John Cronin; 165 lb., Maury Schwarz and Bud Werner; 175 lb., Homer Erwin, and heavyweights, Roy Laugesen and George Stewart.

Every Tuesday noon for the remainder of the semester, there will be a match held in the gym between two members of the team. This week Carl Yeager announced that Maury Schwartz, who is helping George Paiva coach the team, will meet John Cronin, who is rated as one of the better boxers in the 160 pound class. Other matches scheduled for Tuesday noons include Martin-McCoy, Hammond-Meehan, Murphy-Martin, Laugesen-Stewart, and Barass-Randall.

Yeager said, "I think that the idea of having noon exhibitions is a good one, both to give the fighters experience before an audience and to stimulate interest in the sport here at State. We need an interested student body behind our attempts to organize a boxing conference among local colleges."

LINFIELD DOWNS STATE IN SECOND PERIOD, 19-0

By BILL BUCHAN

En Route to San Francisco, November 11.—San Francisco State met two foes today and it was too much for the team. Linfield, with the aid of the weather and a couple of swivel hipped halfbacks, defeated State 19 to 0 at McMinneville, Oregon.

The game was played on a sloppy field and a continuous downpour from the Oregon heavens made it anything but an orthodox ball game.

Linfield scored in the middle of the third quarter when Scherner ran Harkness' punt to a touchdown. Scherner took the kick on his own thirty and sped goalward behind perfect interference. Harkness had kicked from State's own 20.

TOUCHDOWN BY TOUCHDOWN

Touchdown by touchdown the game went as follows:

1. Scherner ran Harkness' punt 70 yards to a score—Linfield failed to convert.

2. Roth, burly Linfield tackle, intercepted a pass and went 53 yards to score. Linfield again failed to convert. The pass, thrown by Harkness was intended for Hodgins and fell into the hands of Roth. The Linfield tackle had perfect downfield blocking and romped goalward with no State hands being laid on his person.

3. Endicott blocked Harkness' kick and Cole fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. Liebsle converted to make the final score 19 to 0 in favor of Linfield.

JAYVEE GRIDDERS TIE LOWELL HIGH 0-0

Held to a scoreless tie by the Lowell High team, eleven fighting sixty-minute men of the State Junior varsity showed an exhibition of stamina and power that astonished even the coaches last Friday afternoon on Roberts Field.

In the first quarter State first threatened the Lowell goal line after a drive of thirty-five yards from the forty-five yard line, but Lowell nipped that opportunity in the bud by holding the "Baby Gaters" for four downs and three yards gained. They took possession of the ball and kicked out of danger.

At the kick-off in the second half Thorpe received the ball and returned it twenty-five yards to the State forty yard line. Then with a series of plunges by Thorpe and several short passes to Blum and Delma State drove their way down to the eight yard line of Lowell. On the first down they were thrown for a two yard loss and then they were held for no gain by the tough Lowell secondary defense. At no other time during the game did either team show any scoring threat.

Linfield Game

San Francisco failed to cash in on two scoring chances. Early in the first half State drove to the twenty and lost the ball, Jackson fell on a blocked State kick to give a start to the drive. Late in the third quarter the Tide failed to punch the ball over from the two foot line on four tries. Harkness had passed to Hodgins who lateraled to Charley Iago who ended up by being tossed out of bounds on the two foot line. Harkness hit the center of the line for no gain on the first play of the new series of downs. Harkness again hit the line and was held. On the third attempt the ball still rested on the two yard line, although many of the spectators held that he had reached pay dirt and was shoved back by the Linfield team. The referees failed to subscribe to this view and so the two teams had to trudge to the opposite end of the field inasmuch as the gun had signalled the end of the quarter.

ENDS THREAT

That ended the scoring threat of State. The game was marked by numerous fumbles some that were costly to State. The work of Thayer, Glavich, Hanrahan, Beseman and Jackson, showed in the line new life. Linfield gained 113 yards from scrimmage which would seem to be pretty fair indication that the line was playing a little football during the course of the game.

Kelnhofer led the Tide backs in number of yards gained. He chalked up a 59 yard romp in the second quarter that put State in pay dirt inside the Linfield twenty. The play bogged down at that point and ended up with Linfield taking possession of the pigskin on the 11 yard line.

The team was sparked by Red Thompson and looked good in defeat, call that an alibi if you will. Harkness in a punting duel with Anderson and Liebsly was averaging 40 yards per kick even with the wet ball.
